SKEENA CAMP PACKAGE

A hen Steelhead just in from the salt.

Fishing the main Skeena at tidewater.

A bright Coho in ocean dress.

A Thoroughfare for the Largest Steelhead and Salmon in the World

Simply put, Northwestern British Columbia's Skeena River is the Steelhead and Salmon superhighway. In summer and fall the lower main channel Skeena hosts vast numbers of migrating Steelhead, Chinook, Coho, Sockeye, Chums and Pinks headed for numerous upriver tributaries. To take full advantage of this prolific fishery and offer a high-quality, high-value fishing adventure Nicholas Dean Lodge has developed an on-river Skeena Camp Package.

Steelhead and Salmon fishing on the Lower Skeena is unparalleled. Renowned rivers such as the Babine, Kispiox, Sustut, Bulkley, Morice, Copper and Kalum enter the Skeena above our camp and all fish bound for these rivers must pass directly in front of us before reaching their spawning grounds. Only a day or two out of the ocean, at the peak of their size, strength and beauty, these are among the biggest and most aggressive Salmon and Steelhead on Earth. To hook one of these fish on the fly in the broad Lower Skeena is to touch the heart of the wilderness — an experience not to be forgotten!

Species	Average Size (Weight in US pounds)	Annual Lodge Records	Maximum Size
Chinook	20 to 50	75 to 85	100+
Steelhead	8 to 20	30 to 35	44+
Coho	8 to 20	25 to 30	30+

A Comfortable Camp amidst Spectacular Scenery

The scenery at our Skeena Camp is nothing short of spectacular: soaring, snow-capped mountains, a large wild river, numerous waterfalls and abundant wildlife are your backdrop as you cast for the Skeena's legendary wild Steelhead and Salmon.

The camp consists of two-person sleeping tents, cook shack, dry room and a privy. The sleeping tents are equipped with bunks and mosquito netting and pup tents are available for the kids. Hot breakfast, lunch, and dinner are served at the cook shack; you can dine at the table or take your meal with you to your favorite fishing spot. The dry room is equipped with a shepherd's stove and can be stoked up to dry off wet clothing or chase the chill.
